Response Teams, Coordinated

Digitize Procedures and Activate Response Teams

Turn traditional operating procedures into true action plans and improve team coordination and response using intuitive software that digitizes your security workflow.

Groupdolists, powered by Centrallo, is an innovative security application offered by Allied Universal. It enables real-time response and situational awareness 24/7 via a collaborative tasking platform—helping safeguard people, assets, and reputations more effectively. Security operations teams can synchronize work flows and response activities through a cloud-based, common operating platform—using Groupdolists at the desk or on the move. Whether it is a routine event, or an emergency, responders gain leverage by sharing information, coordinating actions, reporting and tracking results. With a better, more simplified way to create and execute coordinated sets of work tasks and procedures, Groupdolists improves security operations.
