[Insert quote from company leader]

National Security Officer Appreciation Week honors the incredible efforts of our nation's security officers to create safer and more secure environments. The appreciation week is also an opportunity to profile the many roles security officers fill; debunk misconceptions and stereotypes; and raise awareness of the career opportunities that exist within the security services industry.

Security professionals are hard-working, highly trained men and women who are our protectors, guardians and first responders. These individuals deter crime, lead evacuations, provide information, work closely with local law enforcement and are constantly vigilant in their efforts to keep us safe.

This annual event is featured in Chase's Calendar of Events. Join in the celebration on social media using #ThankYouSecurity in your posts.

About National Security Officer Appreciation Week

National Security Officer Appreciation Week will be celebrated September 17 – 23, 2017. This week is celebrated annually during the third full week of September. Established in 2015, this appreciation week was developed to recognize the work of all contract and in-house security officers across all industries.
